"Well you can just bet we're going to have a good time," so said a 114-year-old veteran of the Civil War on his way to the GAR encampment in Columbus.

William G. Welsh, who was born in Washington County, Pa., September 1, 1829, stopped off in Washington C. H. Wednesday afternoon, with him his friend and neighbor, Edward McCollister, 78 years old, a strapping State Highway Patrol officer was their escort. He had picked them up at their home in Cincinnati and was taking them to the encampment in the state capital.

Mr. Welsh, in spite of his years, was alert and interested in everything that went on around him. The officer said he commented on the crops as they drove through the countryside. His eyes were bright and his sight was good. He wore no glasses, he carried a cane, but disdained to use it for support.

They first stopped at Herb's Drive-in at the western edge of the city and then came on into Washington C. H., after a brief visit in the Record-Herald office, the two older men walked briskly up to Passmore's Lunch for a short beer. Mr. Welsh said he ate only one meal a day, presumably in the morning, but added that he usually had a "couple of glasses of beer" in Passmore's as at Herb's, he was the center of interest.

He was not exactly talkative but he answered all queries in a matter-of-fact way. All the while, however, he was impatient to get going so he would miss none of the encampment festivities.

He wore his little faded blue cap, the one he had on when he was mustered out of the service on May 31, 1865, after three years and five months of fighting in the Civil War. He also had on a dark blue coat of a Union soldier's uniform, but he acquired it later, he said. He enlisted in the 114th Pennsylvania Volunteers on August 15, 1861, when he was 32 years old. He carried his honorable discharge to verify it. "Be careful with that now sonny," he said as he handed over the folded and brittle paper document he cherished so deeply.

He didn't go into his own life much, but did say he had 23 children, all living. Six of his sons, he said with a note of pride, are now serving with the country's armed forces.

Some of you folks who are thinking of sending Christmas presents to relatives and friends in such far away places as Burma, should read this little yarn, and I'll bet you will not wait until a few weeks before Christmas to mail your packages.

Early last December a friend of mine mailed a carton of cigars to one of the boys in Burma, and letter after letter came and each time the soldier stated that no cigars had reached him.

A short time ago a letter arrived stating that the cigars reached their destination May 1, or some five months after they were sent.

"They sure came in the nick of time for I was needing them," the former Fayette resident wrote in acknowledging receipt of the smokes.

ITALIAN CASUALTIES 4,472 IN SIX DAYS

11,103 Killed in Italy Since September

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—American army casualties in Italy increased by 4,472 during six days of heavy fighting in the Alban hills and in smashing the German lines south of Rome.

In the period since Allied landings in Italy last September have accumulated as follows: 11,103 killed, an increase of 1,139 in the six-day period between May 30 and June 5; 42,489 wounded, an increase of 3,935; 8,409 missing, a decrease of 602.

New Giant Bombers Blast Japan Super-Fortresses Inaugurate Worldwide Offensive War by Allies

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—The Army threw a new fighting giant into the war in the Pacific today, turning loose the new B-29 Super Fortress in an air attack on the Japanese homeland.

A terse War Department communique said:

"B-29 Super Fortresses of the United States Army Air Forces 20th Bomber Command bombed Japan today."

It was the first fighting assignment for the sky mammoth, and the announcement also served to disclose for the first time the existence of the 20th Bomber Command, a world-roaming unit under the personal direction of Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces.

The War Department withheld details on the new bombing of Japan proper—first such attack on the mainland since the Doolittle raid of April 18, 1942.

There was no immediate hint of what part of Nippon had been hit, nor from where the B-29's went into action.

The War Department subsequently disclosed that planes taking part in today's raid came from the India-Burma-China theatre.

But Arnold said in connection with the announcement:

"This employment of the B-29 makes possible the softening up attack on Japan very much earlier than would be possible with aircraft hitherto known to combat."

It was the second American raid on the Japanese homeland. On April 18, 1942, when American military fortunes were at their lowest, the nation was electrified by word that Tokyo and other Japanese cities had been attacked from the air.

General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, in a statement on the attack made public by the War Department, said that the Super-Fortress introduced a new type of offensive against the enemy and "also creates a new problem in the application of military force."

Because of the enormous range and heavy bomb load of this newest bombardment plane, said Marshall, they can strike "from many and remote bases at a single ob-

Allies Renew Advance In Italy As Reds Drive Through Finland

Pressure on Hitler's European Fortress Increases from East and South While Nazis Have Hands Full With Allied Invasion Forces in Normandy

Pressure on Hitler's European Fortress was being increased from the east and south as the Red drive through Finland continued toward Viipuri against stiff opposition while the Allied forces, breaking German resistance of the last three days, resumed their relentless northward push through Italy.

Meanwhile, the Nazis had their hands full with the Allied invasion assault as fierce battles raged all over Normandy.

Eastern Front

RUSSIA is expected by many military experts to dispose of the Finnish line within a month and, with Finland isolated, be ready for a possible swing down the Baltic coast as arrow indicates. Knocking Finland out of the war will also end the threat of some seven Nazi divisions (about 100,000 men according to report) poised in the northern part of Finland. (International)

BOY'S BODY IS RECOVERED AFTER DRAGGING CREEK

CANTON, June 15.—(AP)—The body of Hugh Brink, 14, of nearby Waynesburg, was recovered last night from Sandy Creek by volunteer firemen who dragged the stream for several hours. The boy, who could not swim, was swinging on a rope hung over the stream from a tree when he lost his grip and fell in the water yesterday, police reported.

DeGaulle in France To Bolster Demands

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
LONDON, June 15.—(AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle, back in Britain after a triumphal reception on French soil, today laid before British and American political and military councils a claim of enthusiastic support from newly-liberated Frenchmen to back his demand for recognition of the French committee of National Liberation as the voice of France.

De Gaulle was said to be planning tentatively to return briefly

REDS DRIVE ON

MOSCOW, June 15.—(AP)—The Red Army hurled the Finns across an important but unnamed river today as it pressed on toward the port of Viipuri against an enemy who is throwing up what Red Star described as "a multitude of obstacles."

All dispatches stressed the difficult fighting conditions faced by Col. Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's troops. In numerous places the Russians were employing special squads to cut through dense forests and build highways.

There were many indications that Finnish resistance was stiffening and that the Soviets had come up against the main Finnish defenses, but no indications that the Finns had been able to stop the Red Army in any sector.

Falling back toward Viipuri, the Finns chopped down hundreds of tall firs across the highway and railroad line.

The Finns were using the forests for ambushes, causing extreme caution on the part of Soviet troops anxious to save every tank in the near wilderness of the Karelian Isthmus.

The Russians introduced heavy bombers in efforts to blast through the forests. An Izvestia correspondent reported sailors from the Baltic fleet had entered the campaign, but he did not specify where.

Russian troops have penetrated the Finnish lines at Kutserselka, the Finns acknowledged today in a communique broadcast from Berlin. The bulletin also said Viipuri was attacked last night by 150 Soviet planes.

ADVANCE IN ITALY

ROME, June 15.—(AP)—Allied troops, breaking the stiffening German resistance of the last three days, have made a general advance all along their line in Italy taking Orvieto, Aquila and Narni and pushing onward, Allied Headquarters announced today.

Orvieto is 57 miles northeast of Rome; Narni, 41 miles north and west of Rome.

(Please Turn To Page Two)

Southern Front

ALTHOUGH retreating Nazis were reported tightening their Italian defenses, the sweep of the Allies from Viterbo is expected by many experts to be an easier task than foreseen, since German troops are reported being taken from this front to the French invasion coast. The map shows the general area of the advance (1), and (2) the section where the Nazis may decide to make a stand before heading for the Po Valley region (3) and the Brenner Pass. (International)

ARMY GIVES MICKEY A NEW ROLE TODAY

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—(AP)—The screen's Mickey Rooney has a new role—and a new salary—today. The army gave him both.

A barracks bag slung over his shoulder, the 22-year-old indolent told reporters at nearby Ft. MacArthur:

"This is the biggest thing in my life. It makes me happy to know they've accepted me."

The erstwhile No. 1 box office attraction exchanged that designation for an identification number almost as long as his name, and a weekly film salary in four figures for a private's pay.

He was inducted yesterday following a deferment granted to complete film work when he passed his physical last March. In March, 1943, Rooney was rejected for military service because, his mother said, army doctors found he had a heart flutter and high blood pressure.

The actor and Ava Gardner, 20-year-old screen player, were divorced in Las Vegas, Nev., last Sept. 15.

Jap Reports That Landing Force Beaten Off With Heavy Loss Not Confirmed—Assault, If Jap Report True, Follows Daring Naval Attack Over Broad Area of Pacific

(By The Associated Press)
A powerful American task force which has been harassing Japanese strongholds in the Marianas islands since last Saturday, now is attempting to land troops on Saipan Island, the Tokyo radio declared today—a daring operation which, if successful, would give the United States an ocean base within 1,500 miles of Tokyo.

(The OWI said a Japanese Imperial Headquarters communique announced a landing attempt also was being made at Tinian Island in the Marianas and that "heavy fighting is in progress between Japanese units and enemy forces.")

Report Unconfirmed

While there was no immediate confirmation of the reported landing operation, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed yesterday in his latest communique that the American task force still was operating off the Marianas Tuesday.

It was conceivable that the force—already credited with inflicting grievous losses on Japanese shipping and air power—still might be operating in that area.

First reports of American offensive operations in the past have come from the Japanese on more than one occasion.

An attempt to land in the Marianas would be the most ambitious venture yet undertaken by American forces in their leap-frogging progress in the Pacific, during which they have moved steadily closer to the Japanese home islands in recent months with the capture of bases in the Gilberts and Marshalls.

The Japanese, as usual, maintained they had beaten off the first landing attempts at Saipan, but said "heavy fighting" still was going on.

Tokyo acknowledged only yesterday that the Marianas were under attack by a naval task force, and made extravagant claims concerning the damage the Japanese had inflicted on the attacking naval units and aircraft.

The task force operations were first announced by Nimitz 24 hours earlier.

The Marianas stretch for 400 miles north and south on the eastern flank of the Philippines. Saipan is 750 miles south of the Bonin islands. The Bonins, some 600 miles from Tokyo, constitute the innermost Pacific defenses of the Japanese mainland.

Guam One of Group
Successful invasion of the Marianas—which include U. S.-owned Guam, largest of the group—would advance Nimitz' fleet bases 1,000 miles westward from the present advanced positions in the Marshalls.

The task force first struck last Saturday and kept up the assaults, by shelling and bombing, through Tuesday.

The vast scale of the operation was indicated by the Allied diversions. Southwest Pacific bomb-

DAY'S ONLY GAIN MADE BY YANKS SMASHING GERMAN DEFENSES IN DRIVE TO CUT OFF CHERBOURG

British Forces Back in Caen Sector But Nazis Admit Allies Are Trying To Enlarge Beachhead 'Toward All Sides' With Mighty Naval Guns Supporting Assaults—Violent Reaction To Allied Threats Had Been Expected

By WES GALLAGHER

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 15.—(AP)—The Allies were fighting today their fiercest battles since the landings in France and the German high command, which had thrown four armored divisions into furious counter-attacks, declared the battle "is approaching its climax."

American infantry and airborne units, supported by tanks smashing across the Cherbourg neck, drove within seven miles of cutting the last communication lines leading to the big port at the tip of the peninsula.

This was virtually the only Allied gain of the last 24 hours.

The Germans drove the British from Troarn, which the Allies had occupied as the eastern anchor of their 100-mile line, and from Villers-Bocage, one of their two advance points southwest of Caen.

Best unofficial estimates placed the number of German divisions in action now at around 20 and there were strong indications the enemy was bringing in reserves from other armies as distant as 200 miles.

ALLIED NAVY HELP

The fierceness of the fighting was attested by the German high command, which broadcast that the Allies were trying to enlarge their bridgehead "toward all sides." It added:

"Among salvos of heaviest naval guns, incessant air attacks and with freshly brought up infantry and tank forces being thrown into action on both sides, the battle is approaching a climax."

The American advance was on a nine-mile front westward from Carentan toward high ground controlling the last German roads leading to Cherbourg.

Violent German reaction to the threat to the lifeline was expected, and it was likely that further American advances would be only after the costliest fighting.

The German-controlled Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau reported from Zurich, Switzerland, today that the Germans have blown up harbor facilities at Cherbourg.

The Yankees plunged to the Les Sablons-Baupre area, south of Ste. Mere Eglise and west of Carentan. Seven miles to the westward is high ground overlooking La Haye Puits, through which runs the last remaining major north-south highway on the peninsula still in German hands.

The advance placed the Americans nearly half way across the peninsula at its narrowest point.

Hand-to-Hand Fight
Toward the tip of the peninsula hand-to-hand fighting surged between Germans and troops of the U. S. Fourth division in the streets of Montebourg, 14 miles southeast of Cherbourg.

American artillery was shelling the road from Montebourg to Valognes to the northwest, and the doughboys controlled the road from Quineville, on the coast, to Montebourg, but the town itself changed hands from hour to hour.

American airborne troops spearheaded the fighting around Carentan and besides pushing to the west shoved the Germans back more than a mile south of the town.

Allied troops driving southward along the central sector of the front were engaged in heavy fighting around Caumont and Villers-Bocage, with the Allies in Caumont, but the German back in Villers-Bocage after a counter-attack.

The main fighting was taking place in front of Villers-Bocage. Allied troops held high ground facing the town a quarter of a mile away. The River Seulles divided the German and Allied forces.

Allied Air Support
From this area northward to Montebourg the Ninth and Second tactical air forces carried out what was described officially as "a great number of sorties" in support.

The sub first was sighted about 2:30 A. M. Captain Abbott said but was mistaken at first for a friendly patrol boat. Then John Aspell, at the wheel, got a good look in the moonlight night and Abbott immediately roused the crewmen who were sleeping.

The enemy fired one shot across the bow and then opened up with machine guns as the fishermen, scrambled into their dories. Captain Abbott, his 74-year-old cook, Dan Maloney, and the ship's dog, Rex, remained aboard.

Details of the attack were given at a press conference by Captain James L. Abbott, 35, skipper of the fishing vessel, the Lark,

CAP OUTLINED AT WEDNESDAY MEETING HERE

Capt. Virgil Sexton; Arthur Engle To Be Instructors For WCH Flight

The 20-odd Civilian Air Patrol enthusiasts here today have a somewhat clearer notion of what is in store for them and for the others who will become interested in the CAP after a preliminary meeting in the high school building Wednesday night.

The CAP course, as outlined by Lt. Anson Hayes, group squadron commander from Middletown, will be 150 hours of military drill, airplane structure, motors, navigation, meteorology, radio and theory of flight.

"At the end of those 150 hours, a civilian will know just about all he needs to know about an airplane, to take flying instruction and be able to get around the country in a first class plane," Lt. Hayes said.

For boys 16 and 17 years old, the course will be "invaluable" as a pre-induction training for service. Lt. Hayes added, He explained the 45 hours of military drill included in the course would give the boys a head start for army life.

Instructors Named
Two instructors in the CAP will be Washingtonians. Capt. Virgil Sexton, commanding officer of State Guard Company D here, will take over the military drill. Arthur Engle, WHS instructor in airplane mechanics, will teach the classes on motors.

Other instructors are promised from the Army Air Corps Board in Cincinnati. Lt. B. P. Finkbone of the CAP said, "They have promised to supply us with necessary instructors," he stated.

Membership in a CAP flight here will consist of cadets and senior members. Cadet ratings will be given boys from 15-18 and girls from 16-18. Senior members will be men and women over 18. The number of classes will be determined by the flight, once it is organized, Lt. Hayes said. He cited the Middletown flight as an example, saying that one two-hour class was held there weekly.

18 Applications
So far, eighteen boys and girls who will have cadet ratings have made application for the CAP. Four of the group—George Hall, Richard Babb, Earl Burden and Robert Dawson—have already passed screen tests for the air corps and will get a taste of military discipline and aeronautics before being called to active duty.

Other applicants are Carol McCoy, Virginia Craig, Gerald A. Scott, Paul Cottrell, Byron Hinton, Frank Jean, James Hart, Maynard Kruger, Delbert Brandenburg, Chester Brown, Jr., Mary Sexton, James Oliver Garringer, James R. Boylan and James Robert Jenkins.

More Members Sought
Miss Ann Patton, who laid the groundwork for the meeting Wednesday, said she would renew her efforts to increase the enrollment. She said anyone who is interested in the CAP could contact her at Patton's Book Store to make arrangements for attending the next meeting.

In discussing the mechanical aspects of the CAP's instruction, Lt. Hayes said the course would not duplicate the material taught in the high school's workshop but would dovetail with the work done there.

Prime purposes of the CAP are to assist in winning the present war in the air and to assist the air corps pilots now battling in skies all over the world. Ultimately, the organization will promote civilian interest in flying. It is a permanent organization.

Besides Lt. Hayes and Lt. Finkbone, WAC Lt. Ruth C. Morrissey, stationed in Hamilton and Sgt. Clarence Olson, on temporary duty in Hamilton, were present to answer questions about the army's cooperation with the CAP.

MANY PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED BY CITY SOLONS

Bee Question Again Comes To Fore After Many Complaints

Complaints of bees kept in the city; of boys swimming in Paint Creek in the northern part of the city in their birthday suits; Jehovah's Witnesses passing out literature promiscuously and City Manager W. L. Stambaugh's report on progress being made on various "fronts" in the city, occupied attention of city council Wednesday night for nearly one hour.

Councilman Roy Baughn's absence for the fifth time brought forth comment that three absences without being excused may result in the office being declared forfeited.

Much of the discussion was concerning bees kept in the heart of the residence district, and followed many complaints of people being stung by them.

It was also stated that in one instance a petition is being circulated with a view to bringing suit to have the bees declared a nuisance.

It was indicated that such a suit will be filed within a short time, and in view of the impending action, council decided not to take further action on the matter until impending developments take place.

Council voted to pay Attorney Ray R. Maddox $100 for his legal work in the Court of Appeals in the Jack Wolfe ouster case.

Judge R. H. Sites submitted his report showing 37 city cases and three state cases tried during May and a total of $545.10 collected, of which amount $12.50 was paid to the state.

Stambaugh gave a short report on the conference of city officials held in Cleveland this month, and mentioned some of the important matters discussed.

Complaint that boys were swimming in Paint Creek near the Oakland Avenue bridge was left in the hands of the city manager.

Work of street patching, the city-wide clean-up that is to start next week, and the beginning of a serious move to keep alleys clean, were mentioned by Stambaugh.

Resistance to the Fifth Army's offensive, was reported last night.

In the Lake Bolsena area French troops continued to advance and the Americans reached Pittigliano, 11 miles west of the northern end of the lake, and sent reconnaissance elements farther.

Allied troops in the Adriatic sector are across the Saline River.

Despite the arrival of fresh German divisions in Italy Allied armies still are encountering only formations made up of remnants of the 14th German Army.

Apparently these are being used for the present delaying action and the new divisions are being saved for a stand on a line farther north.

Allied heavy bombers attacked oil refineries in the Budapest area and northern Yugoslavia while medium bombers attacked rail targets on the Italian east coast and south of Florence.

Fifteen German planes were destroyed in all operations and 18 Allied aircraft were missing.

Since sponges are scarce today, treat any that you have on hand, with special care. Wash in warm soapy water after using and dry in fresh air.

Time Schedule For City Business To Be Taken Up At Friday Night Meeting

Business and professional people of Washington C. H. are called to attend an important meeting at the Probate Court hearing room in the Courthouse Friday, June 16, at 7:30 P.M. It is announced that the meeting is for the purpose of determining the hours at which the business houses and professional offices of the city may best serve the public. Representatives of the city's industries also are asked to be present.

The call for this gathering has been issued by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Their power is so great, the chief of staff continued, that the (American) joint chiefs of staff decided it would be uneconomical to confine the Super Fortress organization to a single theater, and "these bombers therefore will remain under the centralized control of the joint chiefs of staff with a single commander, General Arnold, acting as their agent in directing their bombing operations throughout the world."

"This type of flexible, centralized control recognizes that a long-range bombardment is not a weapon for the air forces alone. Under the joint chiefs of staff, theater commanders will have a voice in its employment, ensuring that maximum effectiveness will be obtained through missions which will contribute directly to the overall strategy for the defeat of the enemies."

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

This is the beginning of the main Hitlerite counter-attack against the Allies on the Cherbourg Peninsula, which means that the crucial moment of the first stage of our invasion of France is near.

It's a clash of armored giants, for tanks play a great role. The battle has swelled in fury as the Nazis have flung in reserves which have been rushed up from distant points. The conflict is fluid, and strong positions are passing back and forth in hand-to-hand fighting along the serpentine 100 mile front.

The Allies are meeting the challenge with complete confidence. They have retained the initiative on the whole, and that's vastly important.

The intensity of the battle will mount, and if the Germans have the reserves we may expect it to become one of the greatest engagements of the war. Still, the Allies have their feet firmly on shore, and they will stay there. Don't forget that we have two mighty assets which the Nazis lack—vast superiority in the air and on the sea. The enemy ranks are being raked by our warplanes and by the great guns of the fleet on the neighboring ocean.

Good luck to the gallant boys on the firing line!

One of the most important of yesterday's momentous events was the dramatic appearance of General Charles De Gaulle, the French leader, among the Allied forces on the peninsula—his first return to home soil since the fatal days of 1940. This visit, made possible by an Allied command which was happy to serve him, will arouse fresh hope that there may be a settlement of the controversy which is clouding relations between De Gaulle's French Committee of National Liberation and the Anglo-American Allies.

British Prime Minister Churchill called this situation rather sharply to public attention yesterday when he requested the House of Commons to defer debating the subject on the ground that discussion "would do more harm than good now." He did edge the cloud with a bit of silver when he added that he wouldn't seek delay of debate "if I had no hopes of a better solution than I can announce at the present time."

There are numerous angles involved, but the essence of them seems to be De Gaulle's demand that his Committee of National Liberation be recognized as the provisional government of France. This neither Washington nor London is willing to do, holding that liberated Frenchmen should pass on this great question first. Out of this have grown uncomfortable questions by the French Committee regarding the scope of General Eisenhower's authority in civilian matters, the extent of cooperation by the French people (including the underground forces) with the invading Allies, and the validity of Allied invasion currency used by Eisenhower's troops.

The American-British decision about recognition is self-explanatory—they want the French people as a whole to make the choice in peace time. Still, from long observation I suspect that if De Gaulle weren't such a dominating personality he might have a better chance of recognition. It's like this:

No one, so far as I know, questions that this tall, impressive appearing soldier has vast powers of leadership. He has outstanding capabilities and he has a personality which attracts followers. What's wrong then?

Well, he has the reputation of being a hard man—absolute granite—to deal with. He gives the impression that he believes himself to be a man of destiny. His way is the right way.

Now there's no question that all men of good will in America and England are anxious that the French people should handle their own affairs. If they want the general as head of their government, that will be fine. However, it seems obvious that the Allies might create great difficulties for France by thrusting such a powerful and dominating personality

FOOD MARKET IS TO OPEN ON COURT STREET

Thrill-E Room Redecorated And Modernized During Past Few Weeks

What John G. Eavey, vice president of the Eavey Company of Xenia promises to be "Washington's finest food mart," will open here in the Marvin's Thrift-E market building, he said today.

Enlarged, modernized, completely overhauled, the new Thrift-E Super Market will be managed by Wallace Perrill, 912 Briar Avenue. Perrill has had a dozen years' experience in the grocery business. His management of the new market will be his first venture in the retail trade, however. Formerly he was associated with the wholesale market.

Although no new departments have been added in the month's improvement program present ones have been expanded. Eavey and Perrill explain. A new fruit and vegetable display counter, backed by oblique mirror, runs almost the full length of the right side of the store. The meat department, to be supervised by experienced Harold Burris is modernized with new equipment added. Only grade A and AA beef and government-inspected pork will be handled, Eavey pointed out.

A complete line of canned goods, staple groceries and a line of advertised drug store sundries will also be offered when the market opens.

Circulation of customers will be counter-clockwise terminating with the check-out desks at the left. Fluorescent lights, 25 of them, will assure customers of plenty of light inside the store no matter how dark the day outside. All the fixtures and walls have been newly painted in a green and white color scheme.

An entirely new staff, probably about ten people, will be on hand on the opening date.

The Eavey Company was founded in 1869 and has since expanded from the single dry that plied the streets of Xenia 70 years ago to a modern fleet of trucks transporting the tons of merchandise that move out of the four-acre warehouse in Xenia.

The "E" labelled foods, packed by the Eavey Company, will be found on the shelves of the new market as well as other nationally advertised brands, Eavey said. He stressed all products will be sold at "extremely competitive prices."

Two Boys From Here Become Flying Officers

Among Fayette Countians who have been recently commissioned in the various branches of service are Rankin W. Paul son of Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Paul, and John E. Rhoads, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lessor Rhoads, of Washington C. H.

Paul was commissioned second lieutenant in the Army Air Forces, and Rhoads a lieutenant Flight Officer.

Paul was commissioned at Pampa Field, Texas, and Rhoads at Frederick Field, Oklahoma. Both lieutenants were home on short visits recently.

Flight Officer Rhoads is now at Lubbock Texas, for additional training. He has been in the service 17 months, and took his basic training at Keesler Field, Miss., attending State College in Mississippi for four months, then went to San Antonio, Texas, later to Vernon, Texas, Garden City, Kansas. He was awarded his wings at Frederick Field Oklahoma.

Lt. Paul is now located at Liberal, Kansas, taking advanced training. He entered the service 15 months ago taking basic training at Keesler Field, Mississippi, then pre-flight training at San Antonio, Texas, other training at Chickasha, Oklahoma, and at Independence, Missouri. Advance training was taken at Paypa, Texas, where he was awarded his wings.

The two Washington C. H. men were among the more than 1,100 midwesterners who became flying officers of the Army Air Forces when the AAF Training Command held simultaneous exercises at eleven advanced flying schools of the Central Training Command.

Ohio, with 249 graduates, was the third largest group in the consolidated class which included men from every American state and from Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, Cuba and Brazil. Fourth

STATE HIGHWAY WORKERS GIVE PINT OF BLOOD

Several from Fayette Are Included in Big Group Of Donors

For the fourth time a large group of State Highway Department employees in Division 6, including 10 men of the Fayette County crew went in a body to Columbus, Wednesday, to donate blood for the Red Cross Blood Bank.

The group was led by Division Engineer, Perry Shumaker, and consisted of nearly 150 workmen, all of whom went to Delaware where the mobile unit was taking blood Wednesday.

Honoring the men who took part in the invasion, Division 6 employees have designated Flag Day, June 14, as the "Invasion Day Class." Previous group donations at the blood donor center were designated as "Robert M. Shumaker Day," honoring Lt. Shumaker, son of the division engineer, a former state highway department employee attached to the engineer corps who was wounded in action; "Gen. Robt. S. Beightler Day," honoring the former state highway director, and "Division 6 Day," in honor of all former employees of the division in service.

Shumaker estimates that employees in his division have donated more than 700 pints of blood since the war began. "With the big Allied offensive on there is increased interest among Division 6 employees in the importance of blood plasma in saving the lives of our wounded soldiers and sailors," Shumaker said. In addition to donating blood as a State Highway Department group, many of the volunteer donors have additional donations to their credit, since they have also donated blood during visits of the Red Cross mobile unit to the eight counties which comprise Division 6, according to Shumaker.

The blood plasma program has been established in the twelve State Highway Department divisions under the direction of Hal

Taking a Beach

The more you read about the bald facts of that terrific fight of the Allies for the invasion beach head on the Cherbourg peninsula, the more incredible it seems that human flesh and blood should have won against the powerful entrenchments and the strength of the defending forces. The Germans had spent many months, perhaps years, in planning, building and strengthening those defenses. The obstructions seem to have been the strongest and most modern ever devised. So great were the odds that whimsical Ernie Pyle, who weighs about 100 pounds, says the taking of that shore was "like me whipping Joe Louis down to a pulp."

But an expert says: "The only way to take a beach is to face it and keep going. It is costly at first, but it is the only way. Our men were pinned down for a while, but eventually they stood up and went through."

It may remind many of the Biblical account of what Joshua, leader of the Israelites, was up against in the powerful Amorites, and the mighty deeds he wrought. In his determination he even ordered the sun to stand still until he should smite and overcome the enemies of the Lord. And it obeyed—or seemed to obey. Who shall question the issue, and the manner of it, when determined men rise to such imperative heights that they seem to compel even the hostile forces of nature to do their bidding?

Surely something superhuman gave those Allies the confidence and strength to perform a military feat that by all normal standards was impossible, and to break a way into those unbreachable German defenses in their effort to reopen the European Continent to civilization.

Coming Home

One of the few pleasant things about this war has been that so many of the boys were able to come home occasionally for a short visit. It gave them a rest, enabled them to renew old acquaintances, and mightily pepped up their parents, relatives and friends. Modern communication has made it possible. The mail service, too, has been better than hoped for under war conditions. Never before have men in the armed services been able to maintain such close contact with their families.

Needless to say, this fraternal and humane touch in what must be, for the most part, a grim and savage life, is warmly appreciated. All the more so when, as often happens, the home-coming fighter is laden with honors that speak for themselves, if the hero is too modest to parade his own exploits.

Usually he seems to shrink from telling about them. But the decorations speak for him with mute eloquence. And even the most apologetic hero, with his awkward protests that he did nothing unusual, or did it by compulsion or accident, cannot help glowing inwardly. He may well be proud that he has done a double service—to his country and himself. For he emerges

Votes by V-Mail

Soldiers may or may not be able to vote in any large numbers. Congress put it up to the states, and some legislatures have been more interested than others in ensuring a large soldier vote.

But even if a soldier can't vote, he can at least say whom he would vote for, and he is going to be systematically urged to do so. The Democrats, and perhaps the Republicans also, are talking of sending a V-mail letter to every soldier, asking if he has received a ballot. If not, he will be asked to write home, stating his choice for president.

If many respond to this appeal, it will be a telling stroke for the candidate of their choice. In a close election the uncast yet announced soldier vote might turn the scale.

Eisenhower's Office Books

A visitor to Gen. Eisenhower's office reports that the Allies' supreme commander has only two books on his desk. "The Soldiers' and Sailors' Prayer Book" and "Hitler's Generals." There is something very direct, very confidence-inspiring in the general's choice of reading. It speaks an uncluttered mind absorbed in essentials. As another vigorous and successful general named Oliver Cromwell once advised: "Trust in God and keep your powder dry."

Coffee a Harmless Drink

very reason you like it, bad for you. Meat, according to this school, ruins your kidneys; pie gives you indigestion and diabetes and makes you fat, but roots and tubers and the green tops of outlandish vegetables, they are good for you.

Nothing could illustrate this better than the all too timorous attitude towards tea and coffee. Something can be said in favor of objections to alcoholic beverages and tobacco; these common habits of mankind do carry some seeds of danger. But tea and coffee are so beneficial and harmless that any argument against their use is almost entirely emotional and based on the fundamental aversion any body has to seeing somebody else have a good time.

The habit of deprecating their use goes back a long way. As early as 1610 tea leaves were brought from Bantam to Holland and introduced to France and England a few years later. This cup which cheered, but did not intoxicate, had a wide appeal and by 1750 four millions of pounds were imported into England. Coffee was soon after almost as popular. Coffee houses were set up where friends met in public to discuss life and letters over the steaming cup. Such a spectacle of human happiness was not long neglected by the moralists.

Hear the croakings of James Hannay, merchant of Portsmouth, in 1767.

"From its use, men seem to have lost their stature and women their beauty. Your very chambermaids have lost their bloom, I suppose by drinking tea."

You see, it's the same old line. He did not know that tea had any bad effects, but it gave people pleasure, so he made up some bad effects. There is not the slightest evidence that tea or coffee stunts growth or ruins the complexion, but that didn't stop him from saying they did.

The custom still goes on. I get letters all the time from people who have been frightened by well-intentioned friends, that coffee causes high blood pressure, that it drives you to nervous disease and jitters, that it causes insomnia and thus leads to neurasthenia.

Let us turn to real science on the subject.

In general all the effects of tea and coffee are based on their action that they make the blood flow more rapidly through certain organs—especially the brain, the heart and the kidneys. This increased blood flow makes them function better.

Effects of Beverages

There seems besides the better circulation to be a direct stimulation by tea and coffee on the cells of the brain and heart. This action on the brain is why they promote wakefulness and a sense of well being. They increase the output of the heart and for this reason are especially valuable in pepping up old people.

Neither tea or coffee have any effect on blood pressure whatever. Or at least very little. To accuse them of causing high blood pressure is nonsense.

The older you get the better tea and coffee are for you. They strengthen your heart and keep you cheerful with a young outlook.

Of course their use can be abused. Very nervous people who dread insomnia should avoid them in the evening, largely because if they have a bad night they can blame it on the coffee when the real cause is something deeper in the nervous system.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

Patrolman Brady later told reporters at the Courthouse: "Seemed like Haight just caved in. You could just see the fella sort of fold up like a contraption. I says to Dick Gobbin: 'Better take that side of Jim Haight, he's gonna collapse,' but Jim Haight, he just made a kind of shoving motion at Dick and I'll be doggone if he don't start to laugh! An' he says, so you could hardly hear him through the laughin', he says: 'Don't tell my wife. And he comes along nice and quiet. Now wasn't that a crazy thing for a fella to say who's just been arrested for murder?' 'Don't tell my wife,' Facin' a murder rap an' thinkin' of sparin' his wife's feelin's! How could anybody keep it from her, anyway? 'Don't tell my wife! I tell you the fella's a nut.'"

All Patrolman Gobbin said was: "Spell it: G-o-b-b-i-n. That's right, fellas. This'll give my kids a real kick!"

Two days after Jim's arrest, Hermione Wright called a council of war. She closed the upstairs drawing-room doors with a grim bang. It was Sunday, and the family had just returned from church.

"The question," began Hermione, "is what to do."

"What can we do, Muth?" asked Pat tiredly.

"Milo," Hermione took Doe Willoughby's big puffy hand. "I want you to tell us the truth. How is Nora?"

"She's a sick girl, Hermione, a very sick girl."

Hermione patted his big hand absently. "Then there's no question of what we've got to do. We must all of us get behind Jim and fight for him!"

"When he's ruined Nora's life?" protested John F. "He's been bad luck to her from the day he came to Wrightsville!"

"John," Hermione's voice was steel-lined. "Nora wants it that way and, for her health's sake, she's got to have it that way. So it's going to be that way."

"All right," John F. almost shouted. Then he subsided, muttering, "And another thing. Nora mustn't know."

"Mustn't know what?" demanded Pat.

"That we don't mean it." Hermione's eyes began to redden up. "Oh, that man! If Nora weren't his wife—"

Doe Willoughby said: "So you think he's guilty, Hermione?"

"Think! If I'd known about those three horrible letters, that medical book—"

"He should be shot!" interjected John F.

"Maybe I'm crazy," John F. snapped. "But I find myself feeling sorry for Jim, and I don't usually spare any sympathy for murderers."

"Eli, what's your opinion?" asked Hermione.

Judge Martin's sleepy face was grave as he intoned, "I don't know what young Braddy's got in the way of evidence. It's a highly circumstantial case. But, on the other hand, there's not a single fact I know of to cast doubt on the circumstances. I'd say Jim is in for a rough time."

"Took generations to build up the Wright name," mumbled John F. "and one day to tear it down!"

"There's been enough damage done already," sighed Pat. "When your own family runs out on you—"

"What's this?" demanded Lola. "Aunt Tabitha, Lo, I thought you knew. She's closed up her house and gone to Los Angeles for a 'visit' to Cousin Sophy's."

"That Zombie still around?" said Hermione.

"You can't blame her so much, Hermione," remarked John F. feebly. "You know how she hates scandal—"

"I know I shan't run away, John! Nobody in this town's going to see me with my head hanging."

"That's what I told Clarice," chuckled Judge Martin. Then he rubbed his dry cheeks. "Clarice would have come, Hermione, only—"

"I understand," said Hermione quietly. "Bless you for standing by us, Eli—you, and Milo, and you, Mr. Smith. You more than any one. After all, Judge Martin and Dr. Willoughby are lifelong friends. But you're practically a stranger to us, and Patricia's told me how loyal you've been..."

"Eliery looked uncomfortable. "Please! I'll help all I can."

Hermione said in low voice: "Bless you. But if you decide to leave Wrightsville—"

"I'm afraid I couldn't even if I wanted to," smiled Eliery. "The Judge will tell you I'm practically an accessory to the crime."

"Suppressing evidence," frowned Judge Martin. "Dakin will have the hounds after you if you try to run away, Smith."

Pat's hand stole into Eliery's and squeezed hard.

"Then if we all understand one another," declared Hermione in a firm tone, "we're going to hire the best lawyer in the state to defend Jim."

"And if Jim's found guilty?" asked Pat quietly.

"We'll have done our best, dear. In the long run, such a verdict, hard as it seems, would be the best solution to our problem—"

"What a cruel thing to say! I interjected Lola. "Mother, that's not right or fair. You say that because you're convinced Jim's guilty. 'Best solution'—bah!"

"Let's not quarrel," suggested Pat wearily.

"And if Jim's acquitted," said Hermione stiffly, "I'm going to insist that Nora divorce him."

"Now Hermione, that's not right," declared Judge Martin.

"I mean he's not the right man for my Nora," said Hermione. "He's brought her nothing but grief. Nora will divorce that man if I've got anything to say about it!"

Lola kissed her mother on the cheek. Eliery heard Pat gasp, and guessed that history had just been made.

"You old Trojan!" laughed Lola. "When you get there you'll insist on running Heaven. Imagine—your urging a divorce! And she added grimly: 'Why didn't you feel that way about my divorce from Claude?'"

"This isn't... the same," said Hermione, embarrassed, and promptly changed the subject by saying to Judge Martin: "We'll need an extra-fine lawyer for Jim, Eli. Whom can you suggest?"

"Will I do?" asked Judge Martin. John F. was startled. "Eliery!"

"But Uncle Eli," protested Pat. "I thought—it's your court—I thought you'd have to sit—"

"In the first place," said the old jurist dryly, "that's not possible. I'm involved. I was present on the scene of the crime. I am known to have strong ties with the Wright family. Legally and ethically, I can't sit on this case."

He shook his head. "Jim will be tried before Judge Newbold. He's a complete outsider."

"But you haven't pleaded a case in fifteen years, Eli," observed John F. suspiciously.

"Of course, if you're afraid I won't do—" He smiled at their protests. "I forgot to mention that I'm retiring from the bench, so..."

"You old fraud!" growled Dr. Willoughby. "John, Eli's quitting the bench just to defend this case!"

"Nonsense," said the Judge gruffly. "Don't go getting any sentimental ideas. Was going to retire anyway. Old has been Martin. If you want a has-been in your corner, we won't say any more about it."

Hermione burst into tears. The next morning Pat rapped on Eliery's door and he opened it to find her dressed for the street.

"Nora wants to see you."

"Right with you," Eliery looked fatigued. He fussed with some pencil-scratched papers on the desk; the typewriter carriage held a sheet. He slipped the cover over the portable.

"Working?" asked Pat.

"Well... yes. This way out, Miss Wright." Mr. Queen walked her out of his room and locked the door.

"Your novel?"

"Yes and no. I've been... you might call it reconnoitering." Eliery looked her over. "Going out? You look cute."

"I've a special reason for looking cute this morning," murmured Pat. "In fact, I'll have to look irresistible."

"You do. But where are you going?"

"Can't a girl have any secrets from you, Mr. Queen?" Pat stopped him outside Nora's room and looked him in the eye. "Eliery, you've been going over your notes on the case, haven't you?"

"Yes."

"Find anything?" she asked eagerly.

"No, but—it's a queer thing," grumbled Eliery, putting his arm around her. "Something's been annoying me for weeks. Flying around in my skull. Can't catch it. Everything's in my notes that's happened. He shook his head. "But I can't put the finger on it."

"Maybe," frowned Pat, "it's a fact you don't know."

"That," he said slowly, "is very likely. Do you know anything that—"

"You know if I did, I'd tell you, Eliery."

"I wonder."

HOLLYWOOD—I have been absorbed with pictures ever since someone gave me a dollar camera. I was working with horses and I used to make snaps of the stable boys and my fellow jockeys.

A fellow I met at the track—Fred Balzhof of Crescent Films in Brooklyn—gave me a chance in movies. The screen was getting as 40,000 feet in the sky, can "turn on a dime" and is a favorite among Allied pilots.

The Thunderbolt is powered by an 18-cylinder, 2,000-horsepower supercharged motor with a four-bladed, multi-position propeller. When occasion arises, it can carry a 500-pound bomb load. It can fight high in the sky and is equally effective for strafing troops, railroads and grounded aircraft.

Characteristic of the Thunderbolt are its bulky oval-shaped fuselage and elliptical wings and the front and rear armor protection for its pilot.

a toehold in those days and the men who made pictures were learning as they went along. When we shot "The Perils of Pauline" we weren't bothered much with atmospheric effects.

One of the first commandments of the industry was learned through our mistakes: you cannot put comedy in the dark. You can shoot mystery or horror in dim lighting, but for laughs you must keep it bright.

Of course technique is new. After studying the script, today's camera director indicates the camera's path with the same scientific precision a navigator brings to his ship. Such major errors as are made in films now come under the heading of the unpredictable human equation.

The most laughable of these in my experience was not funny when it happened. I was working with George Fitzmaurice on "Big Jim Garrity." He wanted a mine disaster to end mine disasters. It was an elaborate set-up. Dynamite blasts were planted and timed. Everything was to move like clockwork. The water pressure regulated so cave-ins would occur at the right moment and the water would push through the walls of the stone and rise in the level, was to be handled for terrific effect.

I handed Fitz a whistle, saying: "We're set to go when you blow this whistle. I'll get the camera set, and then..."

I never finished. Fitz, idly tossing the whistle in his hands, put it to his lips to try it out. The whole show started and carried through—without a camera trained on it. It took two weeks to set it up again.

Garinger-Mason Vows To Be Exchanged in Near Future Revealed at Pretty Party

Mrs. Zoe Garinger announced the engagement of her daughter, Jean, to Staff Sergeant Willis Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mason of Mt. Sterling, at a pretty announcement party entertained Wednesday evening at her home in Bloomingburg. No definite date has been set for the marriage.

For this occasion the Garinger home was bedecked with a profusion of gay summer flowers, their dainty colors adding a touch of gracious beauty to this gala occasion. For the serving of the dessert course the hostess seated her guests at several tables, each decorated with white tapers, surrounded with carnation corsages which were favors for the evening.

The colorful frocks of the guests were a sight to behold, with the bride-elect wearing a smart yellow silk jersey frock which enhanced her youthful beauty.

During the game of hearts which followed the serving of the announcement of Miss Garinger's engagement was made when a telegram was delivered to one of the guests, Mrs. Wilbur Snapp.

When the scores were tallied later on in the evening, Miss Sue Garinger was awarded high score while Mrs. Wilbur Snapp received second high.

Miss Garinger has been employed by Bee's Beauty Shoppe for the past six years, where she had made a wide circle of friends.

Members of the Union Chapel W.S.C.S. met at the Temple Street home of Mrs. Kathryn Miller, Wednesday, and devotionals were given by Mrs. Madeline Whiteside, followed by prayer by Mrs. J. H. Baughn.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ethel Durlinger, the secretary, Mrs. Lela Craig, giving her report during this. During the business meeting the members decided each member was to give a dollar at this meeting, called the eagle supper, for the benefit of the society.

It was announced members are to bring a needle and thimble to the next meeting and sewing will occupy a greater portion of the meeting.

Rev. J. H. Baughn then gave a talk and extended a special invitation to the members to attend the church service on Sunday, June 25, when a special Father's Day program will be presented.

Guests at the meeting yesterday were Mrs. A. Lorca Dorn, Sedalia, Mrs. Dane Parrett, Colorado, Mrs. Edna Lyons, Mrs. Emmett King, Mrs. Eva Hosier and Mrs. Helen Denen.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. Lucy Miller served tempting refreshments to close the meeting.

Mrs. Dwight Beatty Is Feted at Kitchen Shower By Co-Hostesses Here

Mrs. Frank Lentz and Mrs. Raymond Free of Piqua entertained at the Lentz home on Yeoman Street, the occasion being a kitchen shower in honor of Mrs. Dwight Beatty (nee Martha Carter), a recent bride, whose marriage was solemnized in March.

The co-hostesses received their guests with the popular young guest of honor who was wearing a chic two piece aqua silk suit with which she combined luggage accessories.

A tempting and delicious buffet supper was the first event of the enjoyable evening, the serving being made from the large dining room table. It was covered with a white linen cloth, and centered with a watergarden of pink and white rose buds, and flanking this on each side were tall tapers.

The hostesses then seated their guests at smaller tables covered with white and silver cloths, each table being centered with a vase of roses. An all-white color theme was carried out at the bride's table.

After the happy and prolonged supper hour the honoree opened an array of handsome gifts, graciously thanking each guest in her own inimitable way. One of the cleverest gifts of the evening was saved until last, when the guest of honor was presented to a bride, wearing the traditional veil and carrying flowers. The "bride" was made of a mop bucket, broom and other small articles of kitchen equipment, and a hilarious time was spent in viewing this unique decoration and collection of bridal gifts.

Bridge occupied the remainder of the evening and when the scores were tallied, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Raymond Burchfield, Mrs. Robert Strong and Miss Betty Lucas, who in turn presented their prizes to the bride.

Those present with the guest of honor were Miss Freida Fultz, Miss Laura Schadel, Mrs. Fred LeBeau, Miss Helen Willis, Mrs. Gene Travis, Miss Norma Jean West, Miss Phyllis Pittenger, Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. Robert Strong, Mrs. Raymond Burchfield, Miss Betty Lucas, Miss Sarah Lyon, Miss Jane Cummings and the hostesses.

Mrs. Raymond Burchfield and Mrs. Robert Strong were assisting hostesses throughout the evening.

With a Buckeye In Congress...

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress, 7th Ohio District

D-Day brought mingled and varied reactions on Capitol Hill. Members of Congress listened to the radio announcements and read the short and terse press dispatches on the bulletin boards with avid interest. The House convened at 11:00 A. M. on D-Day, at which time Chaplain James Shera Montgomery lead the national legislators in a program of prayer for the gallant young Americans and their allies who were at that moment fighting their way onto the soil of Europe.

The Congress then took up its legislative work where it had left off the day before. There was nothing else to do on the home front but to carry on.

More than half of the members of Congress have sons in America's fighting forces. Already a dozen or more have made the supreme sacrifice—killed in action. Many are serving with the invasion forces, while others are now fighting in Italy or in the South Pacific. Consequently many members of the Congress have a deep personal interest, as well as a patriotic one, in the exploits of our fighting men.

Miss May Duffee To Send Copies of Poety Books to Well-Known U. S. Library

Miss May Duffee, 217 East Street, has received a letter from Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island, asking for copies of her books of poems to be placed in their library which contains the largest collection of American poetry in existence. Perdue University is also interested in obtaining copies for their library.

Miss Duffee's books are in many of the universities and libraries throughout this country.

Norma Bates Has Chosen July 12 as Date of Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert N. Bates, 520 East Paint Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Norma Reynolds, to Bruce A. Steadman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byrce A. Steadman of Pinetops, North Carolina.

The open church wedding will be solemnized Wednesday, July twelfth, at the First Presbyterian Church.

Miss Bates attended Mississippi State College for Women where she was a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary music sorority for women. Mr. Steadman received his education at Wake Forest College, North Carolina, and the University of Richmond in Virginia. He was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha, social fraternity and it now employed by the Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company.

Those present with the guest of honor were Miss Freida Fultz, Miss Laura Schadel, Mrs. Fred LeBeau, Miss Helen Willis, Mrs. Gene Travis, Miss Norma Jean West, Miss Phyllis Pittenger, Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. Robert Strong, Mrs. Raymond Burchfield, Miss Betty Lucas, Miss Sarah Lyon, Miss Jane Cummings and the hostesses.

Mrs. Raymond Burchfield and Mrs. Robert Strong were assisting hostesses throughout the evening.

miserly almost equal to that of war. They can affect the future peace, prosperity and happiness of all. Rumor has it that a devaluation of the American dollar, or an increase in the price of gold—whichever way you wish to put it—is scheduled to come soon after Bretton Woods. It is reported some of the New Deal financial theorists believe most of the financial costs of the war can be met by manipulating our nation's currency and gold reserve. Sir Maynard Keynes, the British economist who first sold Mr. Roosevelt on the New Deal spending program, has long been at work on plans for the Bretton Woods conference, and has been spending much time in Washington during recent months visiting with high government officials.

By the time this column appears in print the House will have finished consideration of the bill to extend the life of the Price Control Act, under which the Office of Price Administration functions. However, before the bill can finally be sent to the president for his consideration, differences between the House and Senate versions of the new law must be adjusted in conference committee, and it will be at least another week before the country will know just what new limitations or restrictions, if any, have been placed upon bureaucratic activities of the OPA as a result of the new legislation.

Along the political front it is being reported Eleanor Roosevelt will spend the coming summer and autumn quietly at her home in Hyde Park, New York, where she will keep out of the public eye as much as possible, all as a result of the growing revolt in the South against the fourth term. However, many of those who have watched the activities of the first lady during the past years insist it will take more than a political revolution to keep her at home—and especially to keep her quiet. Another political report current here is that President Roosevelt will make no direct campaign for reelection, but will, instead, spend much time in England and liberated France prior to the election; perhaps with the thought that his presence there will impress the American people with the idea his continuation in office is necessary during

M'CORD TO PRESIDE AT LAST LION MFFT

Harold McCord, president of the Lions Club, will attend his last meeting in that capacity at the club's last session this fiscal year next Tuesday night at the Country Club.

Martin Hogan, assistant postmaster at Cincinnati, will be the speaker. His speech, which will be given at the Rotary Club Tuesday noon, will be on War Bonds.

W. L. O'Brien will take over the presidency of the Lions Club at the first meeting in July.

The club is closing the fiscal year with one of the biggest projects it has ever sponsored in good running order—the canteen at the bus station. Since its opening last February, an estimated 4,100 cups of coffee and 8,200 cookies have been drunk and eaten by servicemen and women passing through here.

RESIGNATIONS CRIPPLE FIRE FIGHTING FORCE

Greenfield Chief and Nine Volunteers Quit After Criticism

Greenfield's fire fighting force has been badly crippled by the resignation of Fire Chief Dean Irwin and nine other members of the Greenfield Volunteer Fire Department, which were handed to Mayor W. F. Woodmansee.

Resignations of the chief and nine assistants were received at a special meeting, following publication of a report submitted to council by Councilman Lowell Wilkins, chairman of the Safety Committee, which made certain recommendations for greater efficiency of the fire fighting force.

As soon as he received the resignations, Mayor Woodmansee and Councilman Wilkins obtained 12 additional volunteer firemen to answer calls until the Greenfield council can approve appointment of a new volunteer department.

Following the resignations, Councilman Wilkin issued the following statement:

"Due to some misunderstandings regarding the Fire Department report published yesterday, I wish to state that this report was made in order to emphasize the need of more attention by council to the functions and organization of the Fire Department. Councilmen, as representatives of the people, have many responsibilities incumbent upon them and they make reports only for study and consideration by council for whatever action is deemed fitting and proper. No action was taken by council as it was only a report. Several points remain to be agreed upon, and I myself have changed my mind regarding some details. It was meant to be constructive, and capabilities of individuals were not in any way reflected upon, merely the lack of an efficient organization which council should always strive to promote."

SCHOOL HOUSE FIRE CAUSES $50,000 LOSS

Fire Department Says Vandals Set It

CLEVELAND, June 15—(P)—Fire which a fire department official said may have been started by vandals, caused $50,000 damages in Dunham Elementary school on Cleveland's east side today, threatening League Park and scores of homes in the neighborhood.

Battalion Chief James Nimino, who estimated the damages, said the school (at 6602 Lexington Ave.) was locked in the summer and declared vandals may have ignited the blaze, which started on the second floor.

James F. Brown, director of schools, said if the structure is replaced the cost would approximate $50,000.

KILLED IN COLLISION

SOLDIER VOTING INSTRUCTIONS FOR NOVEMBER

Board of Elections Gives Information for All Service Men

Many inquiries have been reaching the Fayette County Board of Elections as to what men and women in the service must do to vote at the November election, and how to proceed to get the ballots to those overseas.

The Board of Elections, in response to the questions, has issued the following information for guidance of those in service who wish to vote:

Who May Vote: Any person serving in the armed services, the Red Cross, the Society of Friends, Women's Auxiliary Service Organizations, who will be 21 years of age before November 7.

Residence Requirements: Combined residence and service time of one year. For example, if a member of the armed services has resided at a given address in Ohio for one month before induction, and 11 months in the services, it will be construed as one year's residence, thus entitling voting privileges.

Registration: Members of the armed forces are not required to have been previously registered before being allowed voting privileges.

Relatives Who Make Application for Ballots: Wife, father, mother, brother or sister, of the whole blood or half-blood; son, daughter, adopting parent, adopted child, step-parent, step-child, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, grandfather or grandmother.

Information Required by Election Board: Full name of person for whom ballots are requested, county and precinct, kinship of applicant to soldier, and address to which ballots shall be mailed.

When Applications to Election Board May Be Made: Applications may be made now, but the Election Board will not send information blanks until August 9. Deadline for making applications is 12 noon, Saturday, November 4. Soldiers must return ballots by 12 noon, November 7, in order to be counted.

Members of the armed services may make their own applications, and soldiers who are on furlough between August 9 and November 7 may visit the elections board and vote immediately.

Other regulations or changes to be issued will be given publicity for the benefit of both relatives and those in the service.

SANCTIONS START OF COURTS MARTIAL

WASHINGTON, June 15—(AP)—Against the recommendation of the secretaries of war and navy, President Roosevelt has approved legislation providing for starting the Pearl Harbor courts martial before Dec. 7, 1944.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early announced that the President approved the legislation last night, several days after the June 7 deadline for the trials had expired.

In an accompanying statement, the President expressed confidence that congress does not intend for investigations of the Pearl Harbor raid to interfere with the war effort in any way. It was fear of such interference which prompted Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of Navy Forrestal to suggest that the President withhold his approval.

AMERICAN AND GERMAN DEAD lie sheeted and blanketed, row on row in a Normandy field, awaiting temporary burial in the soil of France for which in life they fought. The scene is in the beachhead area back of the zone where many battles were merging into one as the struggle for possession of the Cherbourg peninsula approached its climax. Official U. S. # OF HUMAN INTEREST At The War Front

By ROGER GREENE WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN FRANCE, June 10 (Delayed)—(AP)—Battle Diary:

In Normandy the poppies grow—millions upon millions of them, blood red and dancing fireflies in the tall green wheat—but unlike the flowers of Flanders Fields immortalized by John McCrae's poem, the poppies here in Normandy conceal mercifully few Allied dead.

On this fifth day of battle we are pushing inland by sheer weight of massed fire power, by land and air, and the hand-to-hand fighting that marked the 1914-18 conflict is comparatively rare today.

The Battle of beaches, bloody enough in its early phases, is over. We have suffered, but not so heavily as might have been expected. This afternoon we moved deeper inland. We have left the chateau of our kindly hostess, Madame La Vicomtesse, whose eyes were bright with tears as she waved us goodbye. Now we are billeted in a cathedral town, with press quarters set up in the former headquarters of a German commandant.

Here again signs of the hasty German departure are evident. Bureau drawers are ripped out and left half full. Food and supplies are on the kitchen shelves, and half-empty wine glasses still are on the dining table.

Tonight I am sleeping in the German commandant's soft, big double bed. My escorting officer, Capt. Sir Charles Birkin, is the best "scrubber" I've seen. He lost all his kit somewhere on the beach on D-Day, but now he has two beautiful polished leather cases left behind by the Germans, loaded with such things as a Nazi razor, shaving cream, an extra shirt, a blanket and two bottles of Rhine wine. Within a half hour after we reached this village he turned up slick and gleaming with French shampoo.

I can never forget the look of utter disbelief in the eyes of 11-year-old Charlot, a French boy, when I gave him 100 francs for running an errand. In the last four years all he had known were kicks and jeers and barked commands of the German officers billeted on the farm.

Then there was the French girl about 17, pretty, raven-haired and red-eyed from weeping. I was looking for a table for my typewriter when I came across her in a storeroom. She was lying against a crumpled up mattress, staring at a photograph, with tears streaming down her cheeks.

Quickly she thrust the photograph out of sight, but not before I caught a glimpse of it—a bullet-headed young German officer with cold, imperious eyes and a sword slash across the mouth. I saw his body an hour later, half tumbled out of a shell-wrecked car along the road.

(Editors: Here is the first detailed report of the action, officially described as "one of the finest military feats of the war," in which 10 American medium bombers sank four Japanese destroyers June 8, damaged a fifth and put a cruiser and sixth destroyer to flight.)

By SPENCER DAVIS AN ADVANCED FIFTH AIR FORCE BASE OFF DUTCH NEW GUINEA, June 8—(Delayed)—(AP)—Ten Mitchell medium bombers on reconnaissance high over the western tip of Dutch New Guinea today sighted the trim outlines and dashing wakes of seven Japanese warships racing eastward toward Biak Island, where the Nipponese garrison is in trouble.

It was 1:15 P. M. broken clouds obscured the formation, but the protective covering came too late. The leader of the Mitchells signaled an attack and down the formation plunged for a deadly skip bombing run.

By 1:30 it was all over. In spite of a hail of defensive fire, the Mitchells had sunk four destroyers and left a fifth smoking and wallowing dead in the water, and had put a cruiser and sixth destroyer to rout.

The performance drew from

Major Gen. Ennis Whitehead, commanding the Fifth Air Force Bomber Command, this commendation:

"Congratulations to you all. You men have this date performed one of the finest military feats of the war."

The attack was made in the face of 10 to one odds. Three of the Mitchells, including the formation's dashing leader, failed to return.

Lt. Frederick E. Rimmer, Knoxville, Tenn., piloting "Little Stinker," followed close behind the lead planes. His tailgunner was Staff Sgt. Robert M. Tenkman, St. Bernard, Ohio. "Little Stinker," badly chewed by flak, returned to its base with the left engine hitting on only four cylinders. An escorting plane dropped a 1,000 pound bomb amid ship on a destroyer.

"Eager Wolves," piloted by Lt. Alfred Wolfram, Detroit, and "Dragon," with Lt. Glenn Pruitt, Tracy, Calif., at the controls, closed on the second destroyer. Pruitt skipped a 500-pounder on the bow and Wolfram scored a direct hit on the stern.

The third destroyer was sunk by the "Mad Missourian" flown by Lt. Archie P. Trantham, Cape Girardeau, Mo., and "Sacramento Belle," with Lt. Robert A. Beck, New Albany, Ind., piloting.

Lt. Paul R. Sciortino, New Orleans, saw two enemy ships smoking and settling and another about to go under. To the right he saw a fourth destroyer billowing smoke. It had been attacked

PURPLE HEART IS AWARDED TO SGT. TIMMONS

Air Corpsman Wounded on Corsica Around May 13

S-Sgt. Ben H. Timmons, husband of Mrs. Ben H. Timmons, 301 North Main Street, today wears the purple heart, his wife learned Tuesday.

Sgt. Timmons was wounded "by enemy action" on Corsica in the Mediterranean around May 13, Mrs. Timmons believes. He has been on the rocky island where Napoleon was born since the middle of April.

Mrs. Timmons does not know to what extent her husband was wounded, but believes it was not serious for she has received letters from him regularly with the exception of one week in the middle of May when she believes he was wounded. She received official notice of the medal in a letter from Sgt. Timmons.

Sgt. Timmons has been in the air corps for two years and overseas for six months. Before going to Corsica, he was in North Africa and Italy.

Mrs. Timmons lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Elmer White.

ONE OF THE FIRST American generals to set foot on French soil since the start of the war, Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley (above) is commanding Allied invasion troops on the Normandy coast. During the African campaign he was in charge of the U. S. Second Corps. (International)

SEABEES SPRINKLE ROADS FOR DUSTY U. S. MARINES SOMEWHERE IN THE MARSHALL ISLANDS—(AP)—Seabees introduced a nostalgic note of home by contriving a road sprinkler cart to settle the dust on this almost unendurable coral isle.

The coral dust was loosened during the recent heavy gun bombardment. Trucks, caterpillars, jeeps, bulldozers and tractors aggravated the condition.

The Seabees brought comfort to the stifling Marines by mounting a barge pontoon on a truck body and filling it with seawater.

The swordfish's sword is nearly half as long as the fish itself.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. NEED MORE FATS FOR GLYCERINE TO WIN THE WAR

130,000,000 Pounds More Than Last Year Is Being Sought

Housewives of the community who have been saving their fats for the war effort, are being apprised that there should be no let down in providing these fats, and to redouble their efforts to increase the amount so that there will be no let-down in the production of explosives.

Commenting that the old story about packers using every part of a pig except its squeal has its modern counterpart in the operations of processors of used household fats, Ralph H. Stone, director of the Ohio State Council of Defense, urged continued cooperation with the fats salvage program.

Recent information from the War Production Board, which directs the national fats salvage program, the War Food Administration, which controls the use of fats in the war program and the Office of Price Administration, which authorizes payment of ration points for salvaged fats and controls the price, indicates that the individual housewife is expected to more than double her contribution of used household fats this year, the director said.

Industrial uses of fats and oils this year are so heavy that despite the currently improved glycerine situation, there is a critical need for 230,000,000 pounds of used kitchen fats. This is an increase of 130,000,000 pounds over the amount turned in last year, Mr. Stone said.

Ohio's quota of 1,073,333 pounds of used household fats per month was not met in April, the latest month for which figures have been received from renderers, according to the defense council director. During that month Ohio homemakers saved and turned in 935,664 pounds of fats. Stone urged housewives to be sure to save every tablespoon of reclaimable fat, pointing out that since lard, shortening, cooking oils and most meats are now ration free, more used fats should be available for salvage.

The higher grades of fats turned in by the housewife are used for soap making, while others are split to produce glycerine and fatty acids from which come stearine and oleic acids, vital components of war materials. Chilling and pressing fats produces lard oil, without which lathes, drill presses and grinding machines could not operate, the defense director explained.

Even the dregs of the used fats are processed. The foreign matter which sinks to the bottom when melted is known as tankage and is used in animal feed and fertilizer. Tankage contains valuable protein, calcium and phosphorus, which are essential components of hog and cattle feed, Stone said.

What news will Gen. Eisenhower get from us?

You know now what we've heard from him.

We've heard that Eisenhower and his Americans have hurled themselves like a thunderbolt against the bristling defenses of Hitler's Wehrmacht!

We've heard that they are smashing at our foe—sparing neither steel nor sweat nor blood in one final, furious assault that marks the supreme military effort of this War!

And what news do Eisenhower and his men expect from us?

Men and women of America—what the Invasion is to our fighting men, the 5th War Loan is to us at home!

For us, as well as for them, this is the crisis—the time for tremendous, overwhelming effort! Make no mistake! The 5th War Loan will undoubtedly be the biggest, most vitally important financial effort of this whole War!

If the 5th War Loan is to succeed, each one of us must do more than ever before—must buy double...yes, triple... the Bonds we bought last time.

Our men expect to hear that we are buying double—that we are matching their sacrifice as best we can—that the American nation, soldiers and civilians together, is making one gigantic effort to win this War!

That's the news our men expect to hear from us.

Will you personally see that they get it?

And here are 5 more reasons for buying Extra Bonds in the 5th!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the War.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

BOYS ENROLLED TO PAINT GUARD RAILS ON ROADS

Several High School Boys Here Will Work on State Highways

Eight crews of high school boys, of 10 to 15 each, have been employed by the State Highway Department in Division 6, to paint guard rails and assist in general maintenance work along the state highways.

In this county four local high school boys have been enrolled to do general maintenance work, and the boys all over the district will start to work Monday, according to Division Engineer Perry Shumaker.

The young men will attend a meeting Friday, June 16, at the Franklin County State Highway garage with Shumaker, who will outline the program. Also present at the meeting will be V. J. Hopkins, division traffic supervisor, under whose supervision the young men will work, and several school teachers who will be foremen of the crews.

Armed with brushes and paint, the lads will paint more than 75 miles of guard rails this summer, before school resumes in September. One of the crews will be assigned to maintain the long stretch of parkway on W. Broad Street (U. S. and S. H. 40) mowing grass, caring for shrubbery and painting guard rails. The other crews will paint guard rails and assist in general maintenance throughout the eight counties comprising Division 6.

Each summer for the past few years, under the direction of Director Hal G. Sours, the Ohio Department of Highways has sponsored this worthwhile summer work program, employing high school and college youth representing all eight counties of the division to assist with the annual guard rail painting program. School teachers are hired as crew foremen.

Last summer there were more than 100 young men employed by the Department in Division 6. This summer there were applications from Franklin, Delaware, Fayette, Pickaway and Marion counties.

YOUTH KILLS GIRL FOR DATING OTHERS

High School Boy Shoots Schoolmate

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. June 15 (AP)—Police Chief Raymond P. Gallagher said today that a 15-year-old boy had confessed to the fatal shooting of schoolmate Carolyn Bennett, 14, because she had been "going out with other boys."

Gallagher identified the youth as William Roach, whose uncle, S. Everett Cook, is assistant principal at Forest Park Junior High School where both youngsters studied.

He said the boy was arrested by police in downtown Springfield a few hours after Carolyn's body was found in Forest Park not far from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Bennett.

Bennett formerly was a member of Springfield city council. Gallagher said the young student would be arraigned in Springfield district court later today on a charge of murder.

MAKING PLANS FOR CLEAN-UP IN THIS CITY

Do Not Place Additional Rubbish in Alleys Is Warning

Plans are going forward for starting a general clean-up of the city (Monday morning, City Manager W. L. Stambaugh said Thursday, and at the same time he issued a warning that no more rubbish of any kind is to be placed in alleys, either before, during or after the clean-up.

All citizens are asked to co-operate fully in cleaning their premises and if it is impossible to obtain regular haulers to remove the rubbish from private premises, then the city will provide hauling at a nominal fee. There is no free hauling for anyone, it is pointed out, call the City Auditor's Office, 33151 and leave their order.
Street crews will be set to work making a thorough cleaning of all alleys and streets and orders have been issued for filing charges against anyone who places any rubbish or other obstruction in the alleys.

"There is no necessity for dumping rubbish from premises in the public alleys and this will not be tolerated in any part of the city," said City Manager Stambaugh in discussing plans to keep the alleys clean.
He made it clear that charges will be filed against those placing rubbish in alleyways and upon streets.

NO MORE DETOURS ON ROUTE U. S. 22

Steel Bridge Is Welcomed by Large Number

Many truck drivers who have used Route 22 east of this city for years and were forced to detour many, many times because their trucks would not pass through the old-covered bridge a mile west of New Holland, have been delighted with the steel structure which now occupies the site of the old wooden bridge.
There is ample clearance for any usual load in the steel structure which was erected more than a year ago, but the old bridge had clearance a little over nine feet, and as a result many trucks were damaged in striking the bridge and scores were forced to detour two or three miles to get around the structure.

There is still one long covered wooden bridge in Fayette County and that is on the Yankeetown road over Deer Creek in the extreme northeastern corner of Fayette County.

Lions Edge Out Guardsmen Before Storm Halts Softball

The Lions came from behind with a sixth inning rally to take a 9 to 7 lead and beat the Company D Guardsmen in one of the hottest games to date in the City Softball League at Wilson Field Wednesday evening.

The second game of the double bill between the API and Wilson outfits had just got off to a rou-

Bucky First 10-game Winner As Reds Beat Pirates, 3 to 2

By JOE REICHLER
(By The Associated Press)

Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds became the first major league pitcher to win 10 games this season when he hurled the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates in 11 innings.

Including last night's game, the Red's brilliant right-hander has started 12 games and completed 11 of them. Only Jim Tobin of the Boston Braves has pitched more complete games, 12.

Walters has hurled 114 innings in which he has allowed 22 runs and 74 hits, an average of less than six hits and 1.65 runs per game.

In all three games chalked up against him as losses, he pitched 24 innings in which the Reds failed to score a single run for him. Every time they did manage to score for him, he captured the

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, June 15—(P)—Ancient history lesson: Moved by the furore over Mel Harder's 200th major league victory this spring, Ernie Lanigan looked over his records and found the near misses included 198 victories by Bullet Joe Bush, 197 each by Larry French, Al Orth, Dazzy Vance and Rube Waddell, 196 by Babe Adams and 195 by Adolfo Luque and Bob Shawkey. . . Ralph A. Reddick of Blanchester, Ohio, who also finds interesting items in old baseball books, reports Wilbert Robinson caught for Baltimore in four different leagues—the old American Association (major league) in 1890-91, Ned Hanlon's National League Orioles until 1900, John McGraw's American League team in 1901-02 and the Eastern League Orioles in 1903. . . But L. Earl Moseley went him one better by pitching for Youngstown, O., in three leagues in as many years—Ohio and Pennsylvania, 1911; Central, 1912, and Inter-State, 1913.

Middle Ages
The two game U. of Michigan-Western Michigan baseball series this week-end recalls to tub-thumping Homer Dunham the first meeting between those schools in 1915. . . Two budding major league hurlers, George Sisler and Ernie Kohn, pitched a 14-inning scoreless tie. . . Sisler gave the Broncos one hit, made by Jud Haymes, now Western's athletic director, and made both of Michigan's safe blows off Kob.

Fairly Modern
When Bobby Dill, the Minneapolis Miller's outfielder who plays big league hockey on the side, was travelling with an American Legion team a few years ago, he strolled into the dining car one morning and saw ex-president Herbert Hoover. . . Dill seated himself, looked around and called cheerfully: "Hi, Herby." . . Hoover gasped, then replied: "Good morning, son." . . That was enough introduction for Bobby, who barged right over and secured an autograph.

ing start when the storm that had been threatening all evening broke. The war workers had jumped into a 4 to 0 lead through Wilson errors and their pitcher's inability to control his tosses. The game, called in the second frame, will be replayed in June 23, starting at 8:30 P. M.

Thursday night the Wilsonians are to meet the Base Operations team from Patterson Field.

In the Wednesday night opener, the Guardsmen slammed an even dozen hits off Loren Hynes while the Lions were held to half that many by Bill Parker, on the hill for Company D. But, ragged fielding by the Guardsmen made the difference and gave the Lions the victory.

Mann, the Company D backstop, led the hitting with three singles in four trips.

The Boston Red Sox won their seventh and eighth straight by capturing both games of a double header from the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-4 and 5-0. Francis (Red) Barrett won the opener in relief for his first major league victory and Pinky Woods hurled a six-hit shutout in the nightcap. The double win moved them one game behind the league leading St. Louis Browns.

The New York Yankees ended a seven game losing streak by whipping the Washington Senators 6-2 behind Walter Dubiel's five-hit pitching. The victory hurled the Yankees back into the first division in fourth place.

The Detroit Tigers took both ends of a twin bill from the Cleveland Indians 3-0 and 11-3.

The league leading Browns overcame the Jimmy Dykesless Chicago White Sox 10-3. Nelson Potter hung up his seventh victory of the season, aided by Al Zarilla, who banged out four hits.

The National League leaders, the St. Louis Cardinals, had to come from behind twice to defeat the tail-end Chicago Cubs 10-9. Mort Cooper started but was kayoed in the second inning and Fred Schmidt won his first major league victory in relief.

Brooklyn at New York and Boston at Philadelphia in the National League were postponed due to rain.

$13,333 Purse Magnet for Tournament

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 15—(P)—Lured by a first prize of $2,666.65 and a total purse of $13,333, a goodly number of the nation's top-flight pros tee off today in the opening round of the 72-hole Red Cross golf tournament at Wykagyl.

Eighteen holes will be played each day through Sunday, and the pros will have as company a sprinkling of outstanding amateurs, who will get $100 war bonds if they wind up in the prize list.

Although his most recent performance would tend to discourage the rating, Byron Nelson of Toledo has been installed a 4-1 favorite to take top honors. Nelson took a fat 79 on the last round of the recent $17,500 Quaker City Invitational, which was won by Sam Byrd. Byrd, and duration national open champion Craig Wood, are second choices to win, each at 5 to 1.

FIERCEST BATTLES OF INVASION RAGING; ONLY GAIN MADE BY YANKS

port of the ground forces, many of them from a mounting number of Allied air bases set up with full facilities in captured territory.

Allied fliers reported more movement on the roads behind the German lines last night than at any time since D-Day.

While a great weight of Allied bombs was being thrown against this movement, an announcement came that several hundred RAF four-engine Lancasters and a fighter escort, in a quick switch to American bombing tactics, had blasted German E-boats pens at Le Havre before dusk last evening with six-ton "factory-busters." It was the RAF's heaviest daylight attack of the war. A second assault was directed against the same targets during the night.

Enemy broadcasters reacted to the new Allied attention of Le Havre, lying just east of the beachhead, with surmises that it portended a forthcoming land move in that direction.

Tank Battle at Caen
East of Villers-Bocage to Troarn, beyond battered and besieged Caen, great tank battles raged with undiminished intensity into their fourth day. The Germans were using elements of four armored divisions.

Tilly-Sur-Seulles, a dozen miles west of Caen, changed hands several times. The Germans were reported in it last and a Nazi counter-attack definitely had retaken Troarn, battered into heaps of rubble by air, sea and land bombardment.

With the German counter-attacks mounting in fury, there were indications that Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt had decided to draw off some of his reserves in other portions of France to meet the Allied thrusts.

Appearance of the Second German Panzer Division—the best armored unit in the German army—indicated the Germans were making a supreme effort to seal off the Allied beachhead.

The next two or three days are expected to show whether the German high command has been forced to throw reserves into the battle piecemeal—as in the past nine days—or has been able to keep them intact for a final, all-out counter-attack.

RED BIRDS CLOSE IN ON BREWS

Skipper Nick Cullop of the Columbus Redbirds was expected to send John Prodanjny after his sixth mound victory tonight at Milwaukee as the junior world champions try to make it three out of four over the leading Brewers and whittle their American Association margin to four games.

With Stan Partenheimer going the route in his first start for the Red Birds, who obtained him last week from the Boston Red Sox, Columbus last night handed the Brewers their fifth defeat in seven games, 8-5.

St. Paul climbed into third spot by a scant eight points in trading shutouts with Indianapolis while Louisville was dropping a 6-4 verdict to Minneapolis and Toledo was downing Kansas City, 2-1.

George Diehl pitched three hit ball in the St. Paul opener to blank the Saints 1 to 0 and give Indianapolis its first victory of the season over American Ray Blades' crew.

Loy Camp outpitched Johnny Hutchings in another hurling duel to take the nightcap for St. Paul, 2-0.

from Associated Press war correspondent Roger D. Greene indicated two or more fresh German armored divisions, thrown into the battle between Caen and Tilly-Sur-Seulles to the west, have been unable to halt the Allied forward surge.

Greene said newly-arrived enemy troops, some brought up from points 200 miles away, were going directly into battle—merely to check Allied moves.

"The Germans nowhere in this sector have the initiative," a British staff officer told Greene. "They simply are reacting to our moves and are continually being jabbed off balance."

"The enemy is extremely sensitive to our actions on the left bank of the Caen canal and apparently feels that our bridgehead there threatens a line to which he may want to withdraw."

American doughboys thrust further across the narrow neck of the Cherbourg peninsula after throwing back a German counter-attack on Carentan. A Berlin broadcast said the Yankees were receiving reinforcements for a new forward leap.

Associated Press war correspondent Don Whitehead said in a dispatch received last night that the Americans had won possession of high ground south of the town.

Heavy fighting also was said to be developing west of Ponte L'Abbe, in the American sector between Carentan and Montebourg.

Allied authorities expressed satisfaction with the over-all situation in France.

Seven German mine sweepers were intercepted off the coast of France early yesterday by two Allied destroyers, which sank three and seriously damaged the others.

German women snipers caught harassing Allied troops in Normandy will be treated as prisoners of war, it was learned today.

Front line dispatches have indicated a number of women, trained in the use of small arms, have been firing at the Allied troops. The Germans, however, have claimed they were used merely as couriers.

DE GAULLE IN FRANCE TO BOLSTER DEMANDS FOR ALLIED APPROVAL

De Gaulle's return to France yesterday, for the first time in four years, received a warm welcome from cheering crowds. No official disclosure of the length of his visit was made, but the Brazzaville radio in French Equatorial Africa said he stayed only a few hours.

But the enthusiasm with which the French greeted him was marred by a reported disagreement involving employment of French liaison officers during the invasion.

Potatoes 100 lb. bags $3.25-$4.25.

On this subject, however, British-American diplomatic quarters remained silent.

While he was receiving his ovation in Normandy, qualified sources in London said De Gaulle had withdrawn all but a handful of fighting French liaison officers at the very moment Allied troops were moving onto the assault beaches. A similar report came from high authorities in Washington.

It was said here that these officers had been counted upon by the Allied supreme command to act in liaison with the French people to help take over civil administration.

His action was attributed to anger over the Allies' non-recognition of his National Liberation Committee as the provisional government of France and the refusal of the supreme command to let him take over the issuing of radio directions to the French people on D-Day.

Small Purchases Make Bulk Of Bond Sales Here

$143,327 IS GRAND TOTAL ON THURSDAY

Police, Pension Board Buys $500 in Bonds; Sales Gauge Is Set Up

The bulk of bond buying here—which total $143,327.50 Thursday—is so far in small individual purchases, mostly in E bonds, it was announced today.

It is those small purchases, from $1000 to $25, which are slowly piling up the total. Today, records show a tiny fraction over 15 percent of the $950,000 goal reached. Individual purchases to date are 222; commercial purchases total only five.

Other individual bond issues—treasury notes and G bonds—range from $10,000 to $62,000.

Police Buy Bonds
At a meeting of the Police Pension Board Wednesday night, it was voted to turn $500 of the treasury surplus into E bonds. Arthur Maddox, Frank Snyder, Tolson Brown, Roy Baughn, Allen Sells and Capt. Jesse Ellis are board members.

Sales Gauge
In the C. A. Gossard Company display window, devoted to pushing the bond drive, is a miniature flagpole from which a Jap flag with a black Nazi swastika in the round red center flies.

Each day, as bond purchases mount toward the goal, the flag will be lowered in proportion to the increase in sales. The flag-staff is marked in inch long blocks, each block symbolic of $50,000 in bonds purchased. A placard in the window will show the grand total amount of bonds sold each day.

Magna Carta Day
On June 15, 729 years ago, the Magna Carta, an English document which had a tremendous influence on American Constitutional developments, was signed at Runnymede in England.

Of the Magna Carta it has been said: "Magna Carta typifies those ideals of law and government which have spread to America and to many other political communities that lie beyond the four seas encircling the island realm itself. As the Americans adapt their institutions to the ever-changing conditions of national and international life, those ideals of liberty and justice will continue to inspire and guide them."

Central Ohio Group To Have Session in Columbus June 23

Walter F. Rettig, new secretary-treasurer of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, will be among savings and loan executives from a dozen central Ohio counties at the annual group meeting of the Tenth District of the Ohio Savings and Loan League June 23.

Rettig said if his present plans are not disrupted he and Mrs. Rettig will be at the meeting to be held at the Columbus Country Club in Columbus.

District President Walter C. Kropp, president of the Franklin Federal Savings and Loan Association of Columbus, announced the meeting.

Departing somewhat from past custom the meeting is scheduled as a "business-picnic" and will get under way with a buffet-dinner at 6:30 P. M.

Following a brief welcome from President Kropp, speakers of the evening include D. L. Evans, secretary of the McKinley Federal Savings and Loan Association of Niles and president of the Ohio Savings and Loan League; Walter D. For the savings and loan of tomorrow there will be wider horizons and larger opportunities for service to the thrifty minded and to those who have accumulated sufficient funds for a home of their own."

In addition to various out-of-town guests, more than 150 managing officers, directors and employees representing savings and loan associations in District Ten with resources of approximately $130,000,000 are expected to attend the meeting. ## MERCURY HITS 94 WEDNESDAY

Exceeds Temperature Year Ago by One Degree

Wednesday was the second hottest day of the season, and the hottest so far in June, with an official reading of 94 degrees, one degree above the 93 mark attained one year ago on the same date.

Wednesday's humidity caused the day to seem the hottest of the season, and resulted in a great deal of suffering and discomfort.

During the evening a heavy electrical storm swept over the county, and was followed by showers at various places in the county during the night.

Total precipitation at this point for the 24 hours ending at 8 A. M. Thursday was .42 of an inch, and the rain was preceded by heavy winds.

Lovers of fine harness and saddle horses in Fayette County—and there are many of them as evidenced by the packed grandstand when the horse show was a night feature of the Fayette County Fair—today were looking forward to shows in Chillicothe next Saturday and Sunday to appease, in a measure, their appetite for such a spectacle.

Sponsored by the Chillicothe Riding Club, shows will be held at Cedarwood Farm, five miles east of Chillicothe on Route 50, Saturday night and Sunday afternoon and night.

Although no Fayette County horses are known to be entered, there will be some in the ring that have been shown here in the past few years. Many exhibitors who have shown horses here will be represented at the show, those in touch with the program said. H. L. Littleton of Sabina, a comparative newcomer to the sport, is understood to have entered two horses.

Chester Caldwell, well known to many here and one of the top flight trainers and exhibitors at the big Ohio State Fair before it was interrupted by the war, is to judge the show.

Proceeds from the show are to go to the USO.

An invitation dinner for exhibitors and sponsors of the show, similar to those which were first held here, has always been one of the attendant features.

California has 73 state parks or monuments, embodying 313,000 acres.
